MAINTENANCE & REFURBISHMENT

ALRO Services Ltd offer a complete Service and Emergency call-out package to ensure sewage systems and pumping stations are serviced regularly in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendations.

Your sewage handling system is a complex piece of equipment and includes Electro-mechanical components and as such, requires regular maintenance to ensure reliability and longevity.

Our Service Engineers have many years of experience in the long-term care of Sewage Treatment and Pumping Systems providing you with a competent backup for trouble-free long-term operation of your equipment. Preventative maintenance helps minimise breakdowns & failures by adjustment, repair or replacement.

Emergency attendance

Even with the best maintenance schedule in place, system failure can sometimes occur and immediate attention is required. Our emergency call out service is in place to ensure that the worry, inconvenience & environmental impact is minimal. Should your system let you down at any time a phone call ensures an engineer is on their way and the problem soon resolved.

Refurbishment

All sewage systems require some form of maintenance; those that are not maintained soon require repairs. Even those well maintained will eventually wear out. We are able to evaluate existing and poorly performing units and advise whether full replacement of the current system is required, or if for a fraction of the cost it can be refurbished.

Replacement Parts

Our stores department retain a comprehensive stock of spares and parts at all times. A basic stock of most commonly used parts is also carried by our team of Engineers enabling us to ensure your system is kept running smoothly with no costly return visits.

Through our long standing and valued relationships with manufactures and suppliers, we are able to source a wide range of parts from mechanical to electrical components in good time and at competitive prices.
